Mt. San Jacinto College is offering a Phlebotomy Technician I Certificate program in partnership with AUMT Institute

A Phlebotomist is primarily responsible for the collection of blood specimens using standard phlebotomy techniques. Other duties include record checks, record keeping, verification of patient identification, specimen processing, and instructing patients on the collection of other specimens.

The 8 week program includes:
• 48 hours of classroom instruction.
• 40 hours of practical externship experience

Upon successful completion of the program, including the completion of an approved national written examination, students will have met all of California’s requirements to become a Certified Phlebotomy Technician I.
