English: Associate in Arts for Transfer UC

Language is power. In English and Literature, we ask relevant questions to understand how power works and for what purposes. We explore meanings and unearth assumptions by analyzing issues that demand attention, such as race, religion, sex, gender, and class. We delve into fiction, drama, poetry, and non-fiction to grow, learn how to navigate uncertainty, and build empathy. We offer spaces where you can engage in academic and creative thinking and writing.

Notes:**LIT-106 Introduction to Literature (formerly ENGL-106) is required and you must meet the requirement for List B.

For students who did not meet the LOTE requirement in high school, they may fulfill Area 6 by demonstrating proficiency by completing ASL-100 American Sign Language I, FREN-101 Elementary French I or SPAN-101 Elementary Spanish I with a grade C or better. Languages other than English for Native Speakers are also acceptable for meeting this requirement.

All LIT classes can be taken any semester—they do not have to follow the sequence on this map.

Most requirements can be met through several classes in different departments, on different topics. Please use the degree worksheet and consult a counselor and see what options you have to ensure you choose the classes that best fit you.

You must take one science with lab, so choose which from list B1 or B2. Your second science class should be from the list you didn't choose from.

Scheduling Notes

Literature course offerings vary each semester. If there is a specific Literature course you are interested in taking, please speak with a counselor to see when this specific course will be offered.

Do you feel you need additional support in English 101? If so, you may want to enroll in English 094 College Composition Support. Please speak to a counselor for further information about this co-requisite opportunity.

Helpful Hints

Although taking LIT 106 is not a prerequisite to our Literature courses, we do recommend taking LIT 106 first as this course covers vocabulary, skills, and theories that could be helpful to you in other Literature courses at MSJC.
